HONGKONO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1897.

Ar Bristol a few weeks ago, Sir Michael

Hicks Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, delivered a highly-interesting speech in which he touched upon the trade of the country for the past year. In the second half of 1895, after the Salisbury Administration came into power, the trade of Great Britain exhibited phenomenal expansion, and the returns of exports and imports for that year were of a character which could not but be eminently satisfactory to al those who were interested in the welfare o the country. Sir Michael was able to an nounce that 1896 had surpassed even 1895. There had been an advance in the prices of the great staples-iron, copper, and wheat. The increase of imports as compared with 1895 was no less than £25,000,000. or 6 per cent.; the increase of imports was £14,000,000, or $6\frac{1}{2}$ per cont. He thought these figures were the best answer that could be given to those people who were perpetually telling them the country was going downhill, and that we were unable, under our present circumstances, to compete with the nations of the world. He admitted that the protective tariffs of other civilised nations were a serious bar to our progress, but maintained there was something in the freedom of trade, the cheapness of material, and the energy of Englishmen, which, after all, surpassed all these difficulties; and that, whatever anyone might say of the advance of Germany or any other country in trade and commerce, so long as we could show such results one need not be afraid for the future of Great Britain and of our Empire. Brave words these, and full of theory optimism—an optimism becoming well the The N. P. s. s. Victoria left Tacoma on Chancellor of the Exchequer of a huge Empire. In a vague way, we have all illimitable faith in the future of our country, in spite of the warning notes sounded by The C. M. Co.'s s. s. Canfa, from Glasgow 'Made in Germany' and other technical works; but it is doubtful if Sir Michael Hicks Beach put more than a superficial aspect of the question before his English hearers. It is easy to make a speech that will tickle the palate of an English audience. Nothing is easier to the practised politician. But if the Chancellor of the Exchequer had placed side by side with his increased tables of export and import values. the corresponding statistics of Germany, France, Austria, United States, or even India and Japan, he would have been giving a fairer idea of the relative expansion of British trade. If alongside the 6 per Ir is stated in Tokio that Sir Ernest Satow, cent. increase of imports or the 61 the British Minister, is to go home on leave per cent. increase of exports for Great in April. Britain he had shown an increase of 20 per cent. in German trade, his hearers would not have cheered so veciferously, but in the absence of Continental or pell the Chancellor's rose-tinted vision of British commercial progress. Suffice it to say that it is not the Chancellor of the Exchequer who feels the pinch of foreign competition. Singapore shipping statistics show how the increase is tending, where the highest percentage of progress lies, and were it not for a perversity which we can- the Hongkong F.C. in the Shield Compenot but characterisess unaccountable, except on the score of a conservatism that ill ac. From what is recognised as one of the most reliable tables of experts of British manufactures, we learn that the total de clared value of British textile exports to On the 11th February a Chinese carpenter Hongkong in 1896 amounted to £1,828,329, who was working on board H.M.S. Pigmy as compared with £1,949,775 in 1895 and jumped from the forecastle of the ship into £1,006,731 in 1894 or a decrease of the son. The occurrence was observed by £121,446 on 1895 exports and of £78,402 the sentry and the officer of the watch on on 1894. Investigations are being made by the Japanese Government with a view to adding three ports this year to the list of special foreign trade ports, opened in November last. There seems, by the way, to be considerable difference of omnion as to whether these ports will be accessible to foreign vessels when the Treaties come into force. Interpreting the British Treaty literally. there can be no doubt that a foreign vessel may be barred from entering these special ports, though we scarcely think this could have been the intention of the Treaty-makers: -Kobe Chronicle.

In is evident (says the Shanghai Mercury) that the Japanese have decided to have nothing whatever, to do with cotton spinning in China. Some time ago we told our readers that the Japanese had purchased land, machinery, and some of the building material for erecting a mill in Shanghai, When the Japanese Government found out that other countries were going to be benefited by the Shimonoscki Treaty and had decided to form companies and to build mills, they then, it appears, decided that Apporos of Lord William Beresford's re the part of the Treaty referring to manufactions bunting accident, from the results of tures should not be carried into effect, and which, we are glad to say, he appears to be their nationals learnt this before those of recovering, a correspondent of the Scotsman other countries, and quickly decided makes some interesting remarks on the Elthough matters had not gone so far career of the distinguished sportsman not to build their mill. Daily News: - Chinking, on the 16th of February, witnessed a very pleasing ceremony in the marriage of Miss Ferriman, of Yangchow, and Mr Orr-Ewing, of Kiukiang. Both are members of the C.I.M. and have been in China for some years, Interest was added to this marriage on account of the bride and bridegroom being so well known. Miss Ferriman has for eight years rendered valuable assistance inthe Training Home belonging to the Mission at Yangehow, and Mr Orr-Ewing has for several years ably performed the duties of Superintendent of the province of Kiangsi The marriage ceremony was performed by the British Consul, after which the bridgl party returned to the C.I.M. Home, where they were received by Dr and Mrs Anderson and other friends. Here the Rev. Wm. Cooper, Assistant Deputy Director the China Inland Mission, held a short and impressive service, commending the bride and bridegroom to God in prayer for much blessing on their future. service. Afterwards followed the wedding breakfast, which was very tastefully arranged in the dining room, the walls of which were hung with beautiful silk scrolls, bearing kind congratulations and good wishes from native Christians in Kinngsi and Yangohow. Shortly after the breakfast Mr and Mrs Orr-Ewing left by way of the Grand Canal for Shanghal, accompanied by the hearty wishes of their friends for God's richest blessing on their union.

By the Court—He did not know that his client was charged with conspiring with the prisoner to concect the note to defraud the Man Wo Sheng firm. He did not know the prisoner had been charged until six days after the case came on.

Mr Pollock briefly addressed the Court for the defence. His Lordship said that there had been certain facts shrouded with mystery at the Police Court. Certain documents had been withheld which should have been forthcoming. If the Attorney General thought further inquiry should be made into it. he should see that it was done and the matter reported to the Government.

The prisoner was convicted unanimously on the first two counts; and sentenced to five years' imprisonment on each; the sentences to run concurrently.

THE CENSUS AT MACAO. (From Our-Own Correspondent.) Macao, Feb. 20.

The Boletin Official has just published the report of the committee appointed to conduct the census of the population and of the commercial establishments, industries and-manufactories in the Colony of Macao, s well as to ascertain the number of Portuguese scattered along the principal ports of the Far East according to the census in the respective Consulates.

The Committee, presided over by the Colonial Secretary, consisted of members, who, with the exception of the President and the Vice-President of the Municipal Chamber, were chiefs of depart-

The Secretary of the Committee was Captain Lourenco, and the report was drawn up by him. It is impossible to detail briefly all the facts and figures as they appear in the report; I send you what appears to be the the most interesting. The last census taken in Macao was in the year 1878. The present census was scrupulously compiled, and all the returns were easily collected. The Chinese community, from whom a certain amount of reluctance was expected in furnishing the returns, having always looked upon a census with suspicion as being the precursor of ulterior measures for taxation, coupled with the fact that it was made on the day of the new lunar year. They have, however, shown no disinclination in filling up the returns. The total population of the administrative districts of the colony Macao, on the 14th February, 1897, was 78,627; of these 51,097 were result was that the prisoner in October | small station, enough land has been secured | population and 14,636 floating population in Macao proper; and in Taipa, 8,019

Lazaro parish there is well-known Hortas de Mitra and long were, formerly, there were hundreds of wretched hovels. As these districts have been transformed the poorer inhabitants were compelled to remove beyond the city of Macao. The floating population both of Macao and of Taipa is ilso augmented, showing an increase of 8365 individuals. It is the general opinion, however, that the increase in the floating population was due to the fact that the census was taken on the day of the Chinese New Year, when the majority of the Chi-

DOCKING ACCOMMODATION IN HONGKONG.

In the month of January, 1896, we pubished a leading article on Docking Accommodation in Hongkong, based on statistics published in Whileder's Almanac. We have been asked to reproduce that article, and have much pleasure in laying the following extract before our readers :-

We are glad to see that Whitaker's

Almanae for the current year contains a full list of Her-Majesty's Dockyard estab-

in war time, the whole of these docks would be immediately available for repairing men-to the proximity to them of Government establishments, with stores, workmen, &c.

"Dear Sir.—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lezenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough: it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucous, which was very

MAIL THE FOREIGN SETTLEMENT AT HANGCHOW. Shanghai, Feb. 18. By the treaty of Shimonoseki, Hangchow, was declared to be a treaty port open to foreign trade, and it was stipulated that this concession should take effect in October, 1895. Further it was agreed that it should be "opened to the trade, residence, industries and manufactures" of foreigners, ' under the same conditions and with the same privileges and facilities as exist at the present open cities, towns, and ports of Chima How this agreement has been carried out we know; the port was not opened to trade at the date specified, and every effort has been made by the provincial government of Cheking to reduce within the narrowest limits the privileges to which foreigners are legitimately entitled. As matters stand at present the Japanese government has claimed and obtained for the exclusive use of its merchants a settlement on the Grand Canal. The concession of this settlement and that of Japan's right to control its internal government was fought out step by step; but the knowledge of Chinese methods possessed by Japan's representatives on the spot, bucked up by the firmness of the Japanese government, has dealt successfully with the matter. With regard, however, to the site set apart by the Hangehow officials as a general Foreign Settlement, matters have from the outset been in a most unsatisfactory state. That site adjoins the Japanese settlement; and a plan of the ground marked out into lots was officially handed over to Mr George Jamieson some months ago, certain frontages being therein reserved for a Custom House and a Police Station. In allotting this site to foreign merchants generally, the Chinese authorities openly express the intention of confining purchases of land by foreigners within these limits. The declaration has not been made officially, it is true; but the terms of the Treaty (as quoted above) have been practically nullified by the imprisonment and maltreatment of those natives who have ventured to sell land to foreigners in This attitude of the Provincial authorities is one which past experience has led us to PRICE LISTS. expect. It is one with which our officials have always to deal in their work of upholding their nationals' Treaty rights. might therefore reasonably be expected that such machinery as existing Treaties provide would be used to meet and overcome resistance in this quarter. The local authorities at Hangchow maintain that the opening of that port to foreign trade is amply met by the concession of a site, chosen by themselves, at some distance from the city, and while no such admission has been made by our Consular authorities, it is certain that the unrestricted right to purchase land, simply by consent of the native seller, has not been sufficiently insisted on. In Section III, Art. 2, of the Chefoo Convention, it is laid down that in the case

by the objections of other Consulates to Ogilvie, O'Grady, Russell, Scott, Spalding, accept land for its nationals in a settlement Sterling, -Stoddart, Talbot Thompson, Mr T. Courtin established in so casual a manner. But the final acceptance of the site has Some of the bearers of these, it is true. If high-handed measures of this nature are and has spent most of his time in prison Mr R. J. Harris to be telerated, there is no doubt that over since. William II. is not nearly so Mr A. Haupt the surrendered Foreign Settlement will favourable to the idea of foreigners serving Mr H. D. Hawkes speedily become a farce; for since the con- in the army as was his grandfather. ceded site was first marked out for sale to foreigners at a meximum price of $250 a more, thevalue of land on the Grand Canal has risen considerably above that figure, so that now the native officials, looking around for speculative property in the interests of railway and other syndicates, can find nothing so conveniently cheap and handy as the water front on the Foreign Settlement. Although such measures must inevitably lead to serious complication hereafter, the attitude of the Provincial authorities suggests that, for some mysterious, reason, they believe themselves able to indulge in them with impunity. The manner in which they have possisted in building operations, in the face of repeated remonstrances, is only one feature of a most unsatisfactory condition of affairs. There appears to be every likelihood that both Hungehow and Soochow will shortly be connected with Shanghai by railway. When this is done the importance of these places as commercial centres will be greatly developed and British interests there largely increased. In view of these circumstances, and in order to bring to bear on the local authorities something to which they may attach more weight than they now give to an official despatch, it seems highly, desirable that one or two light-draft launches or armed pinnaces be provided in these waters for duty, whon required, on the Grand Canal and other inland waters. Judging by the light of recent events, their prosence, or even the very fact of their existence, would greatly simplify negotiations with officials like Governor Liao, and we therefore commend the suggestion to the Neval Authorities .- N.-C. THE CHINESE MAIL 報日字華 (Wah Tsz Yat Pa)

THIS paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed at Five Dollars per annum delivered in Hongkong, or Eleven Dollars Forty Cents including postage to Coast ports. It is the first Chiefese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guaranters and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates
